

Teaching the Values of Being Human

Quick start connections – building trusting relationships

STUDENT SURVEY;

What do I SAY and DO to build relationships?

If you're curious, and we should be, ask your students to respond to these questions verbally or in writing;

Questions;

1. What do I SAY that tells you I want a great relationship with you?

2. What do I DO that tells you I want a great relationship with you?

3. What more could I be SAYING that tells you I want the best for you?

4. What more could I be DOING that tells you I want the best for you?

5. What could I be DOING more of so you feel the best you can about me, about your learning and being in our class?

This is an effective way to receive direct feedback from students. Plus, students get to see and hear you reaching out to them and wanting to improve their experience.
